Migration, Gender, and COVID-19

COVID-19's impact on refugee women's livelihoods operates along three key dynamics:

- restricted access to resources and services
- lack of information about resources and services
- fear due to ever-changing policy

Migration, Gender, and Justice

Migration, Gender, COVID-19, and Beyond

- inclusion of refugees (and migrants more broadly) in national COVID-19 response measures
- development of universal social protection structures
- implementation of gendered and intersectional approaches in migration research and politics
